Narrative Description

Located on the east side of Blackwood Circle, facing west, this is a one-story Ranch home with a multi-hipped roof and built-in garage. Constructed in 1950 according to Ames City Assessor data and Inspection Division permit files. The foundation material is concrete, and the roof is covered with composition shingle. The home is clad in vinyl. Small concrete porch with steps up to the central door with multipane sidelight on the south side. Set of three casement windows north of door, ribbon of four large fixed-pane windows south of door. Central internal stucco-clad chimney. Secondary stucco-clad chimney on south elevation addition. This home is considered non-contributing because it was not built during the defined period of significance.

Narrative Description

Located on the west side of Blackwood Circle, facing east, this is a one and a half-story Tudor Revival home. Front and side gable with a front-gabled addition attached with a side-gabled hyphen, attached garage. Constructed in 1929 according to Ames City Assessor data. The foundation material is brick and the roof is clad in thick composition shingles and standing-seam metal. The home is clad in brick on the first floor with limestone details, paneled stucco on the second floor, and un-painted clapboard in the gable. The entry vestibule has been altered and is roofed with a steeply pitched gable, with layered vergeboard, projecting fascia with second vergeboard supported by curved brackets. Door slightly inset beneath a limestone segmental arch, with a leaded art glass window. Small sidelights set away from the door somewhat with limestone sills. Fenestrated with replacement multi-light casement windows characteristic of Ranch homes. This home is considered non-contributing due to fenestration alterations and replacements, entry alterations, cladding replacements, and additions.

Even though this is not a contributing building, this property is notable for multiple significant and specimen Oak trees. More research and protection for these historic resources is recommended.
